Why invest in PGIM India Equity Savings Fund?

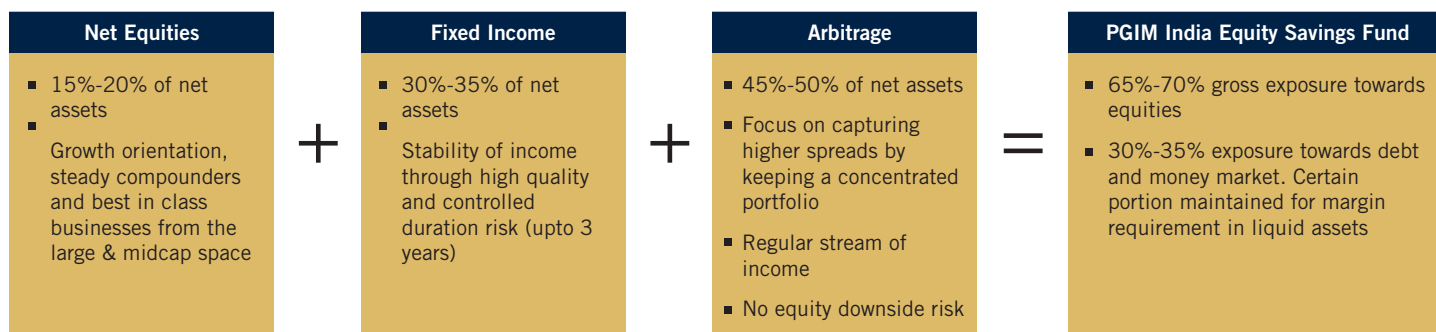

In the current market scenario, where interest rates are showing a hardening trend and inflation expectations in India and globally have risen, moderate to conservative investors are left with fewer options to park their money for the medium to long term.

At the same time, these investors may not be comfortable taking exposure to pure equity-oriented products as volatility has risen and even though economies globally are showing recovery and there is robust earnings growth exhibited by companies, there may be uncertainty in the future on the back of geo-political tensions.

PGIM India Equity Savings Fund, in this environment looks to provide a solution to all types of investors fulfilling different investment goals.
